Network Plan

Community Healthcore
107 Woodbine Pl. Longview, Texas 75601
FCC Healthcare Connect Fund

1. Background, Goals and Objectives of the proposed network

For 50 years, Community Healthcore has served some of the most vulnerable populations in North East Texas, such as children and adults with mental health conditions, intellectual and developmental disabilities, and substance use disorders. Community Healthcore's 500 employees serve approximately 17,000 individuals across East Texas. Community Healthcore has clinics in nine counties in East Texas: Bowie, Cass, Gregg, Harrison, Marion, Panola, Red River, Rusk, and Upshur Increasing bandwidth to the locations listed below will improve access to clinical information and provide better healthcare for the people in East Texas. This will also allow us to increase our telemed services and improved patient experience as well as facilitate the development of new services.

Community Healthcore's goal is to provide a central source for patient information. Connecting the clinics to the data center allows access all of the centers resources including our new EMR (Qualifacts) which is to go live this year.

Community Healthcore's long range vision of the FCC Healthcare Connect Program is to improve our telehealth connection services throughout East Texas and the option to connect to an HIE (Health Information Exchange) which would allow us to share patient information.

The RFP addresses the telecommunications challenges in East Texas connecting our rural locations back to our data center,

3. Strategy for aggregating the specific needs of health care providers (HCPs), including providers that serve rural areas.

Most of the clinics are rural and need more bandwidth to access the Centers Data Center (EMR and other center applications on the CHC network). By increasing the bandwidth to each of the clinics would improve response time. Also, this would improve the telemed services to the clinics in rural East Texas.

4. Strategy for leveraging existing technology to adopt the most efficient and cost-effective means of connecting CHC clinics

The clinics already have network equipment to interconnect PCs and printers by using standard network equipment, increasing the bandwidth will improve the overall network performance to the remote clinics. This will improve access to servers and applications in the centers datacenter as well as cloud based applications available on the internet. Increasing bandwidth would allow for more telemed connections at one time without impacting network performance.

5. Discussion of how the broadband services will be used to improve healthcare

The clinics have direct access to the Center's data center for internet access for cloud based services and access to other centers services such as electronic medical records, VoIP telephone system, electronic faxing and email. Remote locations are connected using a combination of (Fiber, Bonded T1's, Ethernet, Cable, PRIs and Analog phone lines) connectivity. This network will support applications such as:

- Interactive video conferencing and telemedicine for client care and staff meetings.
- Voice (VoIP) communications across locations on the Centers network
- Enabling access to the centers electronic medical records and other databases.
- Transmission billing claims.
- Web-based collaboration tools for meetings and peer-to-peer consultation and interaction for center administration.
- Access to internet based resources for staff and patient education.

All remote clinics will benefit from increasing bandwidth. This will allow the clinics to grow and reach more patients in rural East Texas.
