Intellectual & Developmental Disability by Learn MORE with the CORE

In this week's episode, we hear from CHC's Director of IDD Services, Sandra Taylor. Sandra takes us through the history of this population and the many services offered within their programs and how individuals qualify. We also touch on why we as a society still have so much more to learn about IDD and how we can influence the process of change.

What does IDD stand for? The first two people to email the correct answer will win a Starbucks gift card. Email events@communityhealthcore.com.

CHC in the Community

Hannah Johnson and Katie Roberson facilitated Youth Mental Health First Aid training at First Baptist Church of Clayton in Panola County last Saturday.

If your church or organization would like Mental Health First Aid training, please send an email to mhfa@communityhealthcore.com.

Two of our wonderful trainers, Katie Roberson and Cindy Thomas facilitated Youth Mental Health First Aid training at Region 7 on December 8.

The Greater Longview Optimal Wellness (GLOW) team went to Austin last week for the Texas Accountable Communities for Health Initiatives "TACHI End of Year Convening" to meet with the Episcopal Health Foundation. This team represents collaborative members from Community Healthcore, City of Longview, CHRISTUS Health, Longview Regional Medical Center, Gregg County, Greater Longview United Way, and Special Health Resources.
